Resilient Communities: Advancing Health Together

COMMUNITY-DRIVEN RESEARCH DAY encourages collaborations between researchers and community-based organizations (CBOs) and community groups who have research questions that they are interested in answering, specifically in ways that address social determinants of health. Through an interactive poster session, CBOs and community groups will highlight their questions to CDRD participants, who will include area non-profits, community groups, public sector partners, and researchers from The Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, The University of Pennsylvania, Temple University, Drexel University, Thomas Jefferson University, and La Salle University. Attendees will be able to meet and discuss potential collaborations that benefit community partners.

2024 Keynote Panel: An esteemed panel of past CDRD awardees and community-driven research experts will present on effective community-academic collaborations.

Presenters: Calls for Submission

CBOs and community groups interested in developing partnerships to conduct research are invited to participate in an interactive poster presentation that will highlight the organization's/group's mission, goals, major accomplishments, and research questions. Submissions are due Friday, January 19, 2024.

Non-Presenters: Register to Attend

All non-presenting individuals interested in attending Community-Driven Research Day, including academic faculty, staff, students, community members, and representatives of non-academic institutions should register by Wednesday, January 31, 2024.
